VOLUME II, 1965

Glendale, assuming her place in the community, is striving to develop its partially refined youth.

The refining process is continued not only through its varied curriculum but also with programs such as cadet teaching, which furnishes future teachers with practical experience in guiding a class, cooperative occupational education which provides the young employee with guidance and aid in locating and holding a position, and Hi-Y Model City Government which teaches the Student understanding and respect for his government.

Students begin to assume their role in the community through activities such as school band, choir, and Scotties. A superior effort was made by Glendale students in their contributions to the United Fund drive and the accumulation of Christmas baskets delivered by the Key Club.

As Glendale matures, she will gain stature and importance in the community. Likewise her youth, then refined, will have become the leaders of the community, whether it be city, state, or world.

Dear Bob,
Let's stay buddies for a long time. We've had great times at the pool & possibly if you don't work all the time we'll see more of each other.
Yours truly,
Leslie Hyde

Bob,
Gosh, we've had fun in all our classes the last few years. I hope I'll see you alot this summer. ☺ I guess I will (every time you walk out. outside.) By the way, if you want to run over the dog as you mow the yard, I don't mind a bit!

again, you've been a great guy stay like you are and you'll always have plenty of frien lots of luck always
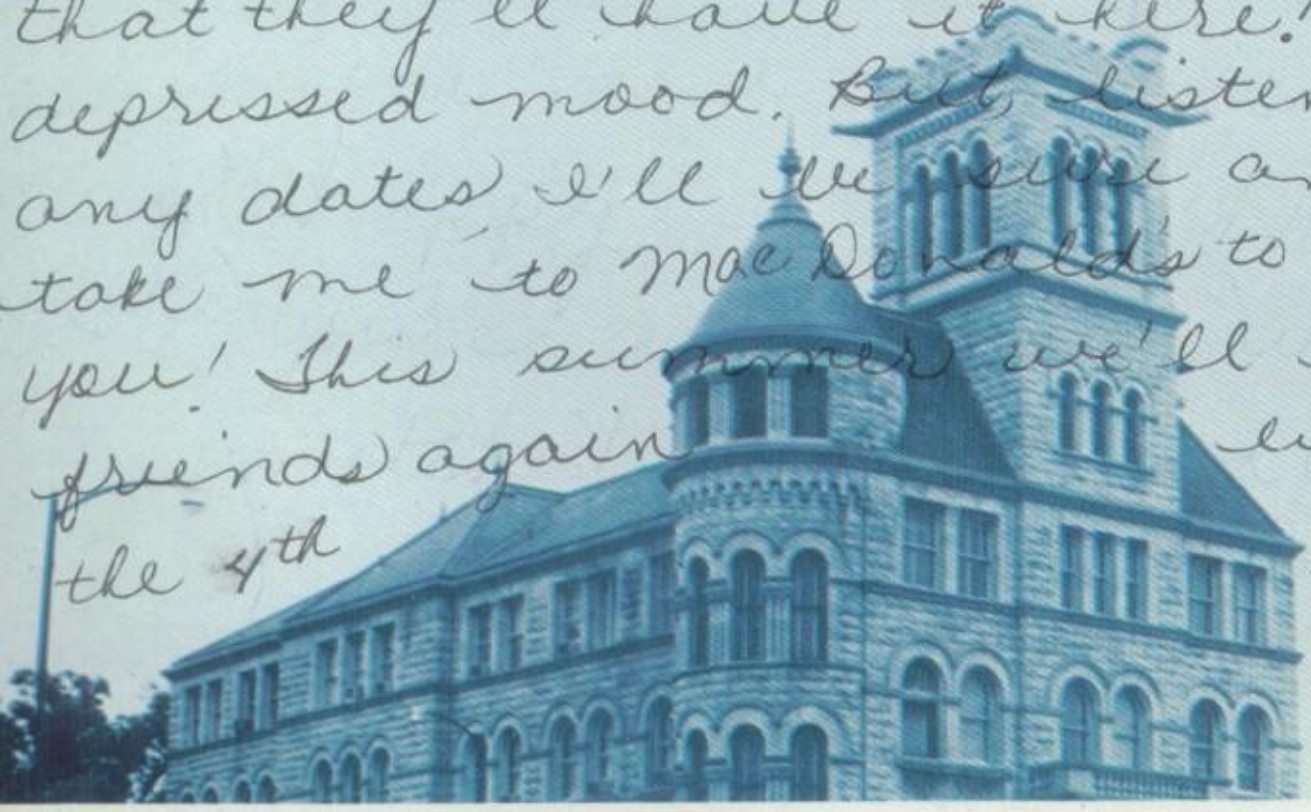
John Green

Bob,

Gosh, I'm so glad that you're not a Key Club reject anymore. Just think, next year you can go to the convention! It'll probably be your luck that they'll have it here! I'm in such a depressed mood. But, listen, if I ever get any dates I'll use them and make them take me to MacDonald's to come and visit you! This summer we'll have to be good friends again like we were in the 4th grade. Maybe we can climb your roof again like we always use to. When I get back in town you'll have to come out to Hickory with me, and when Becky comes in town to visit we'll have to have a party. (At your house?) There sure isn't much room in your popular

Alice Rowland



Bob,

I can remember seeing you walk into Spanish the first day this year. For the next few weeks I really wanted to meet you. Finally I don't remember when we began to talk. Since then we've had the best of time together. Look me up at Silver Dollar City this summer and I'll show you a real time

These are the moods of Glendale. The knowing smile of confidence, the grim look of determination, and the deep mask of day dreams all find their way into the daily scholastic life of Glendale students preparing for a demanding community. The relief of pleasant conversation reflects the never-ending struggle of young minds to understand the intricacies and traditions of the world about them.

Bob
Hi! This has been a great year! But I surely do wish we had some classes together this year. Maybe next year! The class I espicially miss is English!! This summer I'll probably see ya a lot you and your dad, hoppy and me will have to do a bunch of things! Okay. Then double with someone we'd have so much fun together. Be a good (ha) and see ya this summer (I hope!!!!)

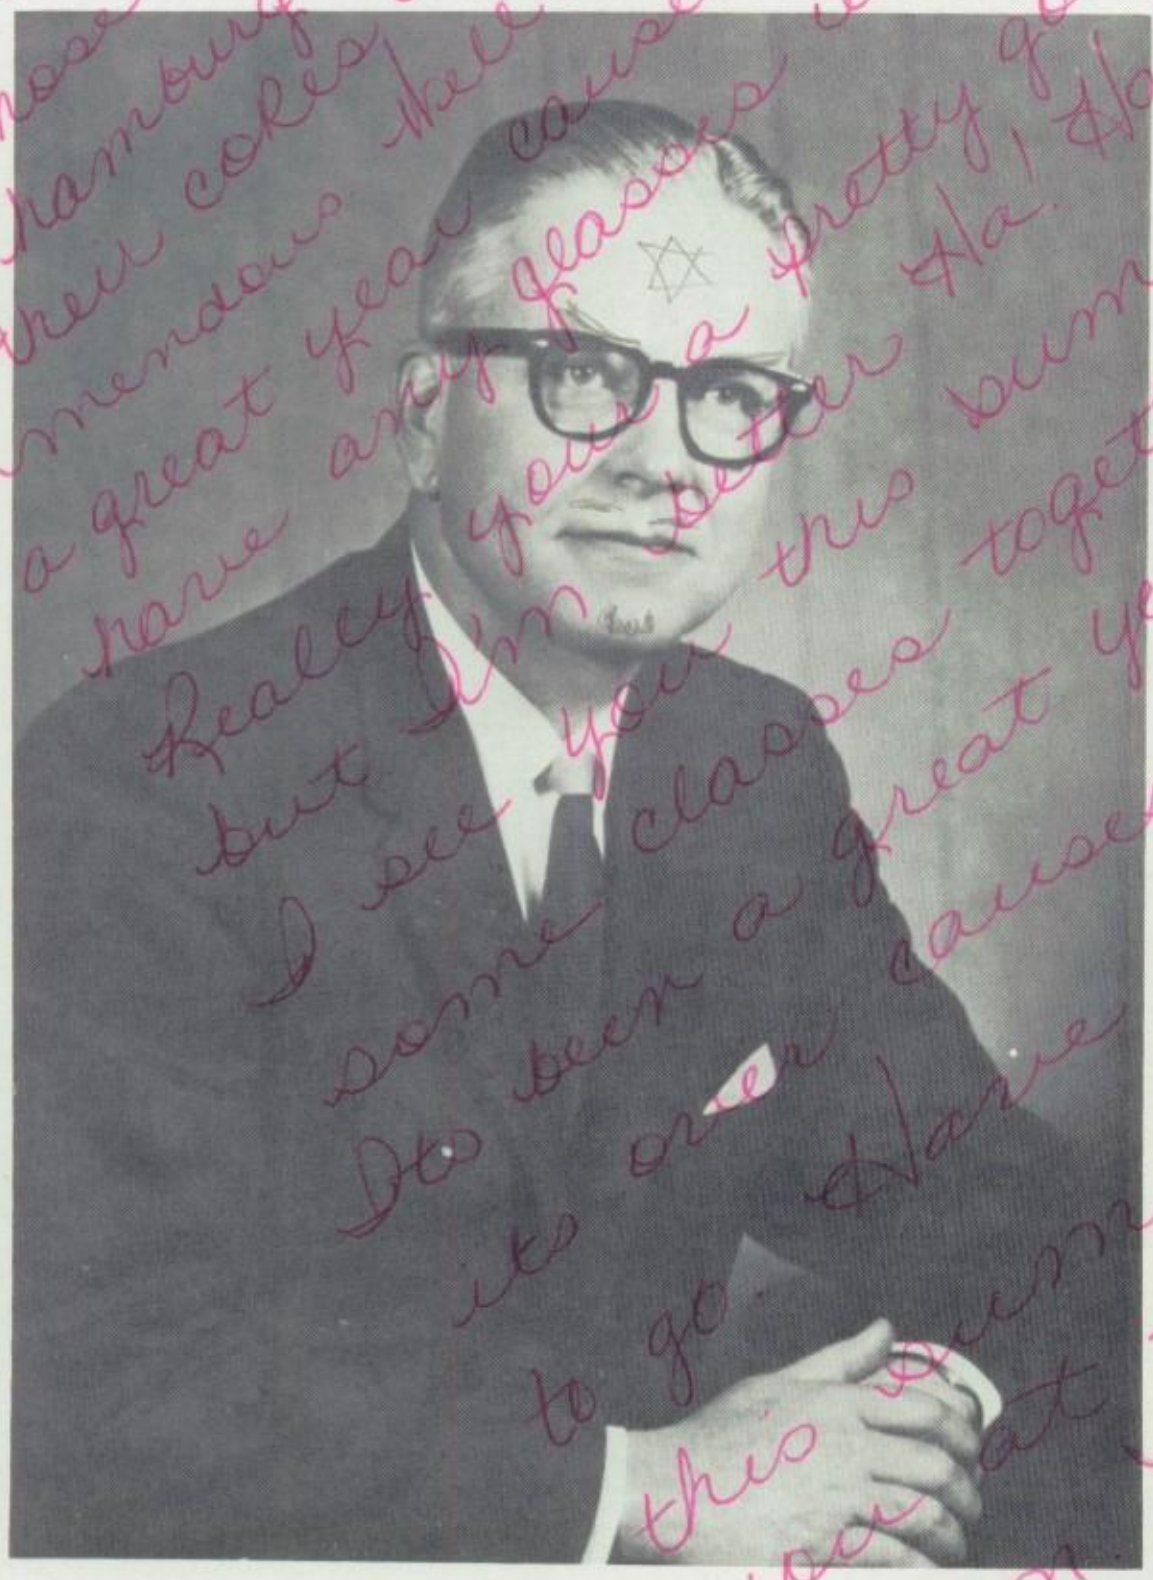
The Springfield Public School System is recognized as one of the outstanding school systems in the nation. More important than any recognition, however, is the quality of education to which the Board of Education is committed. The Board of Education constitutes one of the most important organizations in the community and is one of the greatest stabilizing forces in the nation. The Board, composed of six citizens elected by the voters of the district, is entrusted with the responsibility for planning for the educational welfare of children.

The technological and scientific advances of recent years have brought about tremendous changes in society and have placed increased demands on education. In order to plan an educational program that meets the needs of this changing society, the Board works closely with its executive officer, the superintendent of schools, in studying the problems that are involved and in establishing broad policies for the effective operation of the educational program.

Springfield has been fortunate for many years to have the freely-given services of outstanding citizens as members of the Board of Education. The only compensation for the many hours spent away from their private affairs is the satisfaction that comes from important personal contribution to the community and to the nation through the education of today's youth. The record of outstanding leadership and service of the Board of Education merits the appreciation of the citizens of the community.



WILLARD J. GRAFF
Superintendent of Schools

As Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Graff serves as the executive officer for the Board of Education and as its chief administrator for the school system. He is a teacher. He counsels with and advises the Board of Education. He represents the school personnel in professional and welfare matters in dealing with the Board of Education and in the community. His position requires that he exert educational leadership, state his educational point of view clearly in the community, and lead in the improvement of instruction with confidence in his position.

In the thirteen years that Mr. Graff has served as superintendent, the school system has experienced more growth and adjustment to change than was experienced in all of its previous history. The successful adjustment of the school program to meet the needs of a changing society can be attributed in a large part to the leadership of Superintendent Graff. In the decision-making in which he is involved, he continuously relates one basic consideration: "Will it improve the educational opportunities and experience for the young people both present and future?"

Assistant Superintendent For Secondary Education

As Assistant Superintendent for Secondary Education, Dr. A. M. Alexander is delegated responsibility for leadership in the administration and supervision of the junior and senior high schools, with major responsibility in the areas of personnel, supervision and instruction.

Previously, Dr. Alexander served as a classroom teacher at the elementary, secondary and college levels, as principal of elementary and secondary schools, as a superintendent of schools, and as the Director of Curriculum for the Springfield school system.

His depth of understanding and appreciation of the many problems of education and his professional approach in working with both lay and professional people contribute to his effectiveness as an educational leader.

Harold E. Deiker
Assistant Principal

Glendale's successful year in leadership and achievement can be attributed not only to the student body, but to its principal, Mr. James E. Ford. In his second year as a principal, he has proved his ability not only as a capable administrator, but as a friend.

Mr. Harold Deiker, assistant principal, not only helps with the administration of Glendale, but finds himself busy with assemblies, Key Club, and problems arising daily. As an advisor he is greatly appreciated.

Glendale . . .

Students and enthusiasm are synonymous at Glendale. Whether engaged in Model-City Government, studying, school assemblies, caroling, or discussion, the student body is determined to make Glendale a source of pride.

Each student plunged into the routine of study with a strong will to learn. As a result, seven seniors were selected as finalists in National Merit Scholarship competition.

Aside from studies, Glendale students found time to participate in sports and extra-curricular activities. Backed by the strong support of the student body, the football team captured first in the Ozark Conference.

Not content to excel only in the school, active interest in the city government flourished as students assumed the leadership of the community February 26, Model City Government Day.

Throughout the FALCON, this capacity for enthusiasm and determination is pictured not only within the school itself, but in the community as well.

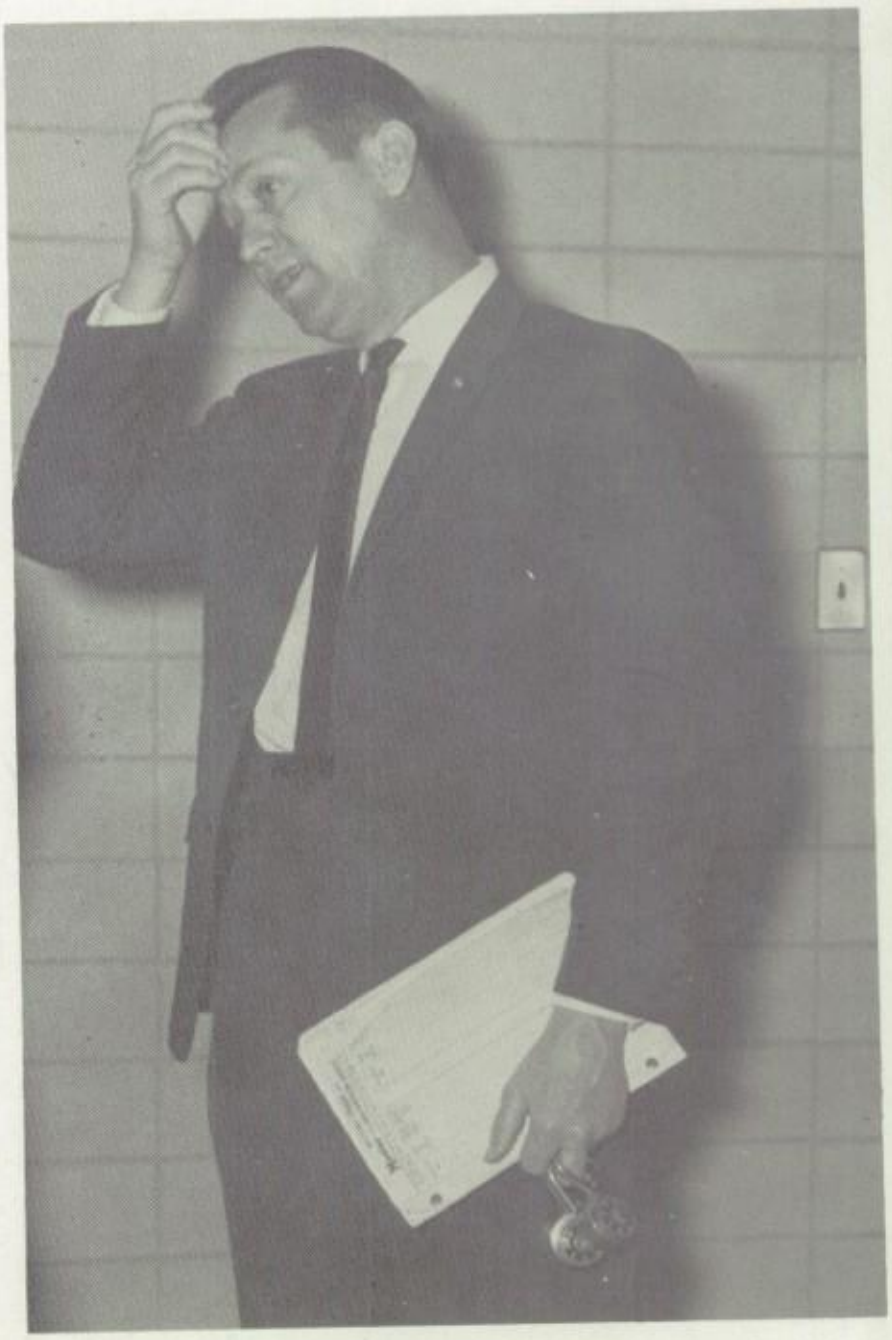
Acknowledging the need in the present time for guidance in selection of vocation and education, the Glendale guidance staff assumes this as their duty.

To prepare the way for school efficiency, the deans assist teachers, counselors, and administrators with guidance and pupil personnel. In addition to these duties, Mrs. Dee Mahan, dean of girls, also acts as sponsor for Student Council and Mr. Russell King, dean of boys, co-sponsors the Key Club.

Counselors, acting as class sponsors, advise and guide students in their course selections, their interests, aptitudes, and aspirations for the future.

Parent Teacher Association seeks to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social, and spiritual education.



Mr. Russell King, dean of boys, seems to be caught in one of those perplexing moments brought about by the distribution of locks and lockers. Mrs. Dee Mahan, dean of girls, finds that solving a problem often requires many phone calls.

PTA OFFICERS . . . Mr. Harold Deiker, assistant principal, confers with Mrs. William Stocker, treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Baab, vice-president; Mrs. Reed Anderson, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Poe, president.

Language Arts.

BOOKS ARE DOORS TO LEARNING . . . Seems to be the attitude of Donna deCamara, English IV L student, as she diligently selects the right books for a research paper.

The English language arts program plays a significant part in determining the success of the total school program. It covers a broad area, stressing the importance of speaking, writing, listening, critical thinking, reading, and semantics. In short, the success of the total curriculum is in some way influenced by the language arts program of Glendale.

English I, II, and III comprise the three basic English requirements. Electives, which are added to the program, include English literature, English composition, word study, fundamentals of speech, public speaking, dramatics, and journalism.

It is through this program that the student is given an opportunity to learn effective use of language in daily affairs of life, to grow in intellectual curiosity and in capacity for critical thinking, to learn to report accurately and concisely, to think clearly and honestly, to read thoughtfully, and to listen intelligently. These goals are basic for maintaining democratic ways of living.

Drama Stresses Appreciation Of Theater.

"SHE'S REAL NEAT" . . . Ronnie Munsey describes the girl he dates with John Stewart. It turns out both boys date the same girl in an original duet act presented before the fifth hour dramatics class.

"THE LIGHTS CAN'T BE TOO STRONG" . . . states Mrs. Jerrie Hemingway, as she discusses lighting for Arsenic and Old Lace with John King, stage manager, and Steve Fetter, assistant stage manager.

Geraldine Hemingway
Dramatics
English II

The dramatics course, primarily open to juniors and seniors, places emphasis on acting, play production, appreciation of theater and new art forms, technical work, interpretation of literature, and theater history.

February, March, and April were busy months for the drama department. The three-act play, Arsenic and Old Lace was presented in February. The dramatics assembly, in March, was made up of the one-act play "The Bad Children" and a selection from "John Brown's Body." In April, the department produced the senior play, "Good Morning Miss Dove."

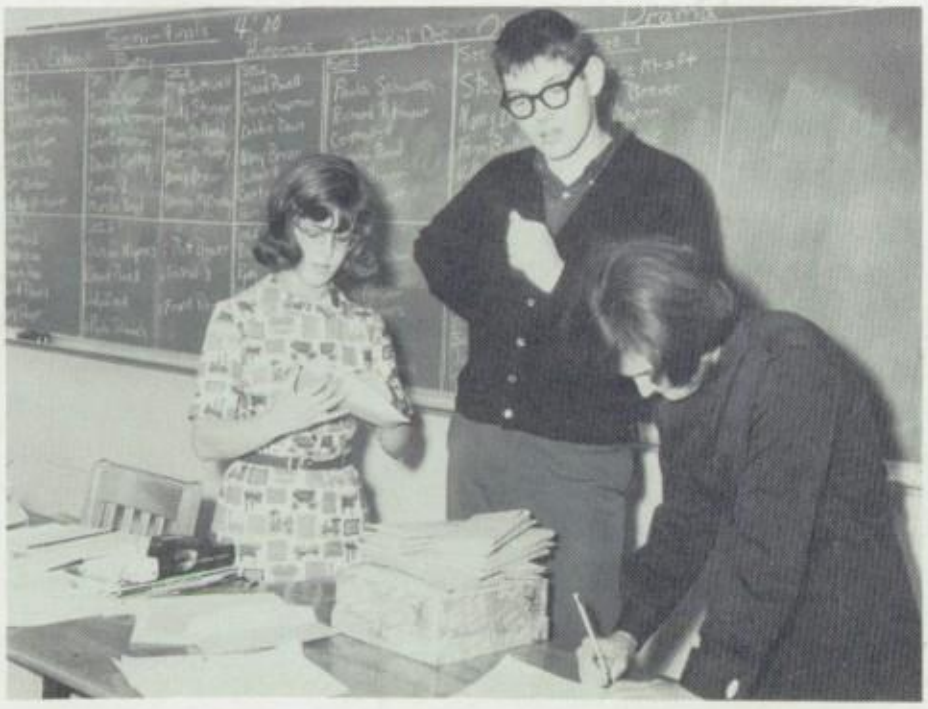
Speech Courses Build Confidence



NEOSHO, JOPLIN, COLUMBIA . . . Linda Stoner, left, Rick Powell, and Teresa Lowther are busy with invitations and details necessary to hosting Glendale's own speech tournament.

Glendale's Speech Department strives to teach students how to express themselves clearly and fluently by means of two courses, fundamentals of speech and public speaking.

Fundamentals of speech serves as a basic preparatory course in general speaking and as an introduction to more advanced competitive speaking. In the spring of every year, fundamental speech students participate in a Neophyte Tournament which serves as a sample of the competition they will face if they continue in speech.

Public speaking is made up of those students qualified for tournament competition. Students compete in debate, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, dramatic and humorous interpretation, duet acting, poetry, oratorical declamation, and speciality events. Students travel to various schools across the state for tournaments.

Journalism Fulfills Role . . .

YES SIR, WE'LL SEE THAT YOU GET A COPY . . . Larry Null, business manager, and Larry Graham, circulation manager, frequently work together as each advertiser must receive a copy of the Quill.

EDITORS THREE! . . . Larry Collins, editor-in-chief, Diane Blackwell, news bureau editor and Joyce Bowlin, associate editor, weekly make a critique of the Quill as well as other school publications.

Journalism is an elective course in the language arts program of Glendale. Besides helping students explore potential careers in journalism, it provides training that is functional in the language arts field, as well as in the area of business and photography as they pertain to the journalism program.

In Journalism I, students are introduced to the fundamentals of the various mass media. Emphasis is placed on the individual's skill in writing and preparation for actual publication work in Journalism II.

Journalism II, a two-hour course, allows the students to explore different areas, to find their individual aptitudes in journalism, and to develop their talents and skills. Journalism II students take the lead in actual publication of the yearbook and newspaper and operating the news bureau.

Journalism fulfills the role of interpreting the school to the community, and helps students become more discriminating consumers of mass media.

With the number of Americans abroad increasing daily, it is becoming more of a necessity to be able to speak some foreign language. The Foreign Language Department at Glendale tries to meet this need by enabling students to understand languages of peoples of foreign countries.

Three years of French and Latin are available and four years of Spanish, to those who wish to further their knowledge of various nations and their languages. Many aids are used in teaching these classes, including films with the narration entirely in the language being studied by the class, and tape-recorders so that the students may listen to their own pronunciation.

Vast opportunities are open to people in foreign countries who can speak the language. The language strives to help students take advantage of these opportunities.

READY FOR THE PLAYBACK . . . Mr. Gerald Brooks' French class listens attentively to a French pronunciation tape, as he adjusts the tape recorder.

Music Sustains Cultural Appreciation . . .

Glendale's music department tries to fulfill a three-fold purpose: to meet the needs of the consumer, the performer, and the person possessing particular creative ability. The music program is directed primarily toward the musical needs of all students.

Members of the various organizations gain a better understanding and appreciation of other people and their cultures by listening to and performing their music.

As a medium of musical expression, the musical groups are an excellent means for providing a satisfying and enriching musical experience to students in the life of the school and community.

The department hopes that the student will gain a musical experience, whether it be through personal participation in performance or as an active listener and admirer of musical accomplishment.

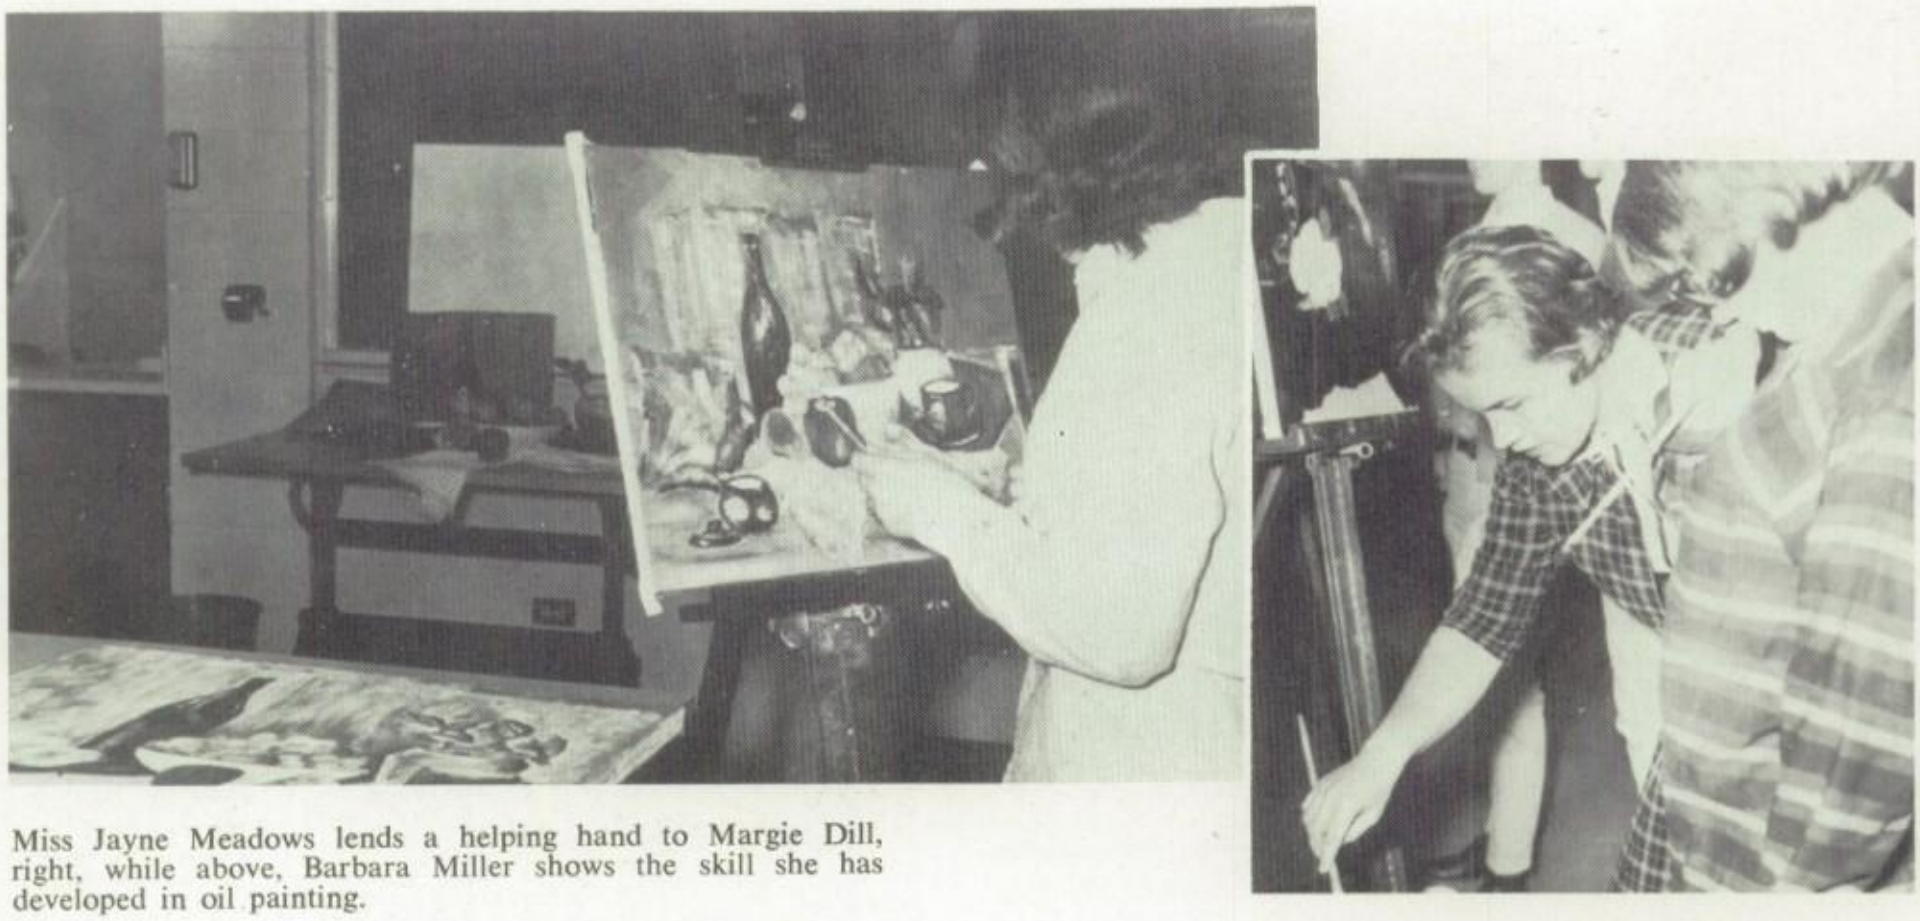
Art Reflects Man's History.



Miss Jayne Meadows lends a helping hand to Margie Dill, right, while above, Barbara Miller shows the skill she has developed in oil painting.

The art program is planned to provide the students at Glendale with a composite picture of the various visual arts.

The art classes are not only designed to help students to learn to draw, paint, and become skilled in the art crafts, but to allow the student to gain an understanding of the various elements which comprise the works of art.

Emphasis is placed on recognizing art as a visual history of mankind and his achievements. Care is taken to link art with history and literature and to realize that there is a similarity of thought.

Throughout the period of instruction, students are urged to appreciate culture, artistic, and moral values.

TURN THE SWITCH AND AWAY WE GO . . . Judy Zook turns on the ignition as she begins her on-the-road driving instruction.

DON'T BE CAUGHT DEAD SITTING ON YOUR SEAT BELT . . . Ann Benton carefully fastens her seat belt before an actual driving lesson.

To teach all the sophomores who pass through Glendale to be the best drivers they can is the purpose of the Driver Education Department.

Each student is given hours of instruction both in classroom units and dual-control automobiles before he is considered ready for the road. The students are also given a standard course in first aid, approved by the American Red Cross, which prepares students to handle injuries that might occur during a crisis.

Classroom instruction consists of a brief study of the Missouri Drivers Guide in order that pupils will be better informed and able to pass the test for a driver's license. A study of the parts of an automobile is also made to inform the pupils of its mechanics and to give them some idea as to the maintenance required to keep it in good running condition.

History examines mankind and his society. By taking social studies courses, students acquire a knowledge of the past in order that they may more easily understand and appreciate contemporary social, economic, and political problems. Recognizing both the rights and duties of citizens in a democracy is an important objective of the department.

Citizenship, World History, and American History are required courses which provide a background of the American heritage.

Electives present a continued picture of the United States and its international relationships. American Problems, American Heritage, psychology, sociology, and economics furnish a working knowledge of problems facing the community, state, nation, and world.

Understanding modern concepts and developing skills are of prime concern to the Glendale mathematics department.

The emphasis in mathematics is on the understanding of the structure of the various concepts of modern math and developing facility in applying techniques and skills to life situations and to advanced study.

A math student also learns to understand the role of deductive reasoning in mathematics, and to develop appreciation for the need of precise language in this field.

Glendale's math program offers a solid background in the fundamentals and concepts of modern mathematics, and college-preparatory classes for students who plan to major in this area.

Glendale's Science Department is aware of the need to prepare students for careers in physical and biological sciences.

Courses such as these enable a future scientist to take subjects in both areas and complete his high school preparation with Physics II or Biology II.

Students, other than those preparing for science careers, need science subjects to equip them for living in our technological world.

To provide this fundamental background, the school offers Biology I, Biology II, Biology IA, general science, chemistry, Physics I, and Physics II.

Much time in each subject is spent in laboratory experimentation where skill in manipulating equipment is developed. Students are also helped to develop creative thinking.

Home economics is a series of courses designed to aid students in acquiring the techniques and skills needed to meet the various problems involved in personal and family living.

The first course in home economics is generalized to include clothing, foods, decorating, family living, and personal care. Home Economics II, an advanced course in foods, stresses nutrition and related areas.

Home Economics III is a clothing unit in which the students study textiles, wardrobe planning, and related areas. The girls make five garments in this class.

Home Economics IV is a two-semester elective course that involves the study of establishing and managing a home, preparation for marriage, home nursing, and family living.

. . . Competency, Economic Understanding.

Business education is an essential part of the secondary school program. It is that phase of education which stresses the business facts, knowledges, understandings, and skills needed by the individual as a consumer and as a producer.

Business education may be defined as the growth and development of the individual in economic understanding and competency.

All courses taught as business education, such as typewriting, shorthand, business machines and bookkeeping, meet the demands of all phases of business in the community.

Probably no other field in education lends itself more readily and naturally to the uses of community resources than business education. Students in all communities have informal, daily contacts with some aspects of business. Therefore, the importance of actual business experience gives added incentive to the learning process.

The art of creation in both design and in construction of objects from wood, metal, and other industrial materials is the area of a high school student's education designated as Industrial Arts.

Industrial Arts courses present the student with a practical application of skills useful in future occupations.

Cooperative Occupational Education, or COE, offers the student on-the-job training in retailing, wholesaling, and service in business and industry.

Each student spends part of his day in the classroom and part in a local business concern. Employee-employer relations are a basic part of this course.

Automation and changing technology have placed man, his education, and his occupational pursuits in a new relationship.

Education is now, more than ever before, a bridge between man and his work. A certain percentage of youth has always sought training to prepare for employment, but in recent years many more young people have been seeking such training.

Millions are entering the labor market each year. With increased competition for available jobs, employers can now require better trained new employees. The untrained worker finds obtaining employment difficult because of the decreasing need for unskilled labor.

Through newer and more modern courses in vocational and technical education, the Springfield Public Schools are endeavoring to meet the demand for more highly skilled labor.

Physical Education . . .

Encouraging an attitude of self-improvement is the goal of the Physical Education Department. Through a well-rounded program it is hoped that students will become better adapted to handle situations which involve a high degree of self-discipline and muscular co-ordination. Students are given standardized tests prepared by the late President Kennedy's council on physical fitness to determine improvement in muscular development.

An intramural basketball program is also sponsored by the Physical Education Department, in order that boys who are interested may be given an opportunity to play basketball in an organized tournament with students of their own age.

An extensive intramural program is also conducted for the girls. They may participate in a variety of activities including basketball, volleyball, softball, tennis, swimming, and camping in order to improve themselves physically through a supervised program.

The efficient operation of Glendale is an important task. Other than the administrators, this duty falls mainly in the hands of the cooks, custodians, office secretaries, and attendance clerks.

The cooks find their days busy with preparing lunches for the 1700 enrollment at Glendale while the custodians keep the entire building in smooth working order.

Mrs. Frances Deck, secretary to the principal; Mrs. Virginia Ensminger, secretary to the assistant principal; and Mrs. Connie Sade, main office secretary; are responsible for the school records and correspondence.

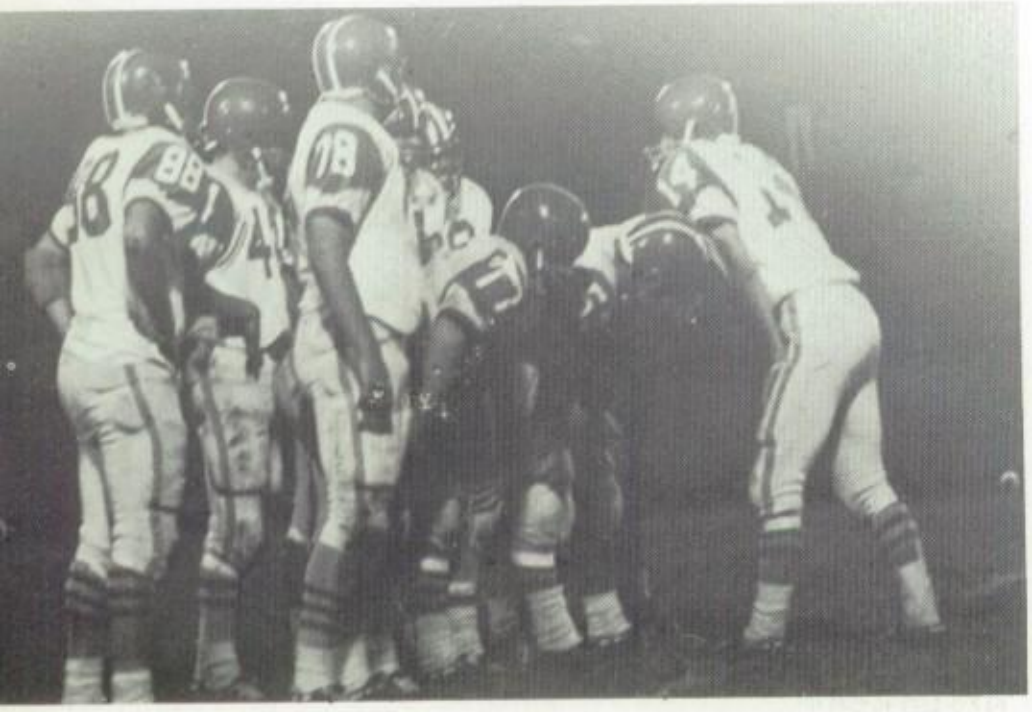
Falcons Become Champs . .

A power-packed football team highlighted Glendale's past football season. Completing only their second year, the Falcons drove their way to the Ozark Conference Championship, posting a perfect 4-0 record against conference competition.

The Falcons were downed only twice all season, the first coming in a hard-fought battle to St. Joseph Central and the second at the hands of highly-rated Columbia Hickman in a game played in a sea of mud.

Highlights came early in the season when in the second game the underrated Falcons stopped the defending Conference Champion Central Bulldogs 12-7. Even more of a thrill came to the team when they smashed the Hillcrest Hornets, a team which had allowed the opposition only 31 points in six games, 27-7, thereby clinching the championship.

Basically a team with a ground attack, the Falcons were paced by the smashing runs of star fullback Steve Byars. The zenith of Steve's illustrious senior year was being selected as first team fullback on the All-State, All-Ozarks, and All-Conference squads. Other players chosen on the All-Conference and All-Ozarks teams were Charles Helfrecht, Greg Daugherty, Jim King, and Mark Worley. Byar's hard running enabled him to finish second in the city in scoring while his running mate, Worley, was third.



Steve Byars, upper left, could be a thousand miles away in thought. but not in action during the games. Against the Bulldogs, Byars rushed for 124 yards and had a 88-yard touchdown nullified by a clipping penalty. Barry Cox, upper right, eager to return to the line-up, is sidelined while Robert Melton and George Davis, managers, adjust Barry's shoulder pads during the Jeff City Helias game. A closeup of lineman Ronnie Lemery and Don McTeer, middle right, give them all the appearances of professionals.

It might appear that Ronnie James, lower right, cannot penetrate the defense of the Raytown Cardinals, but the Falcons were victorious by a score of 35-20. Greg Daugherty, quarterback, pictured above, guided the Falcons to victory against potent Hillcrest. The Falcons defeat of the Hornets, 27-7, insured the conference championship. Listening intently to Greg are Gene Napier (88), Mark Worley (44), Charles Helfrecht (78), and John Haseltine (77).

. . . In Only Two Years

Mark Worley, upper right, seems to be putting out that all important last effort as he heads for another touchdown against Joplin. The Falcons defeated the Joplin Eagles by a score of 38-13, and avenged the Eagles victory of the past season. Worley's consistent scoring gave him the third place in city scorers with a total of 68 points in 10 games. Steve Byars, left, slips around another sleepy defender for more yardage. The Championship Falcon squad won the 1964 Falcon Festival game with the Raytown South Cardinals 35-20.

. . . Byars Cops All-State.

Tired, worn out tennis shoes did not characterize Jim King's play for the Falcons last fall. King, upper left, was a standout end on both offense and defense. Contemplating the 48 minutes of brutality that are about to incur are three senior ends, upper right, Richard Ridenour (65), Dan Faggard (83), and Ronnie Lemery (84). Larry Kendrick, middle right, shows the agressiveness typical of the freshmen eleven. Coach Bill Bayless charges finished with a 4-1-1 record. Fullback Steve Byars, lower right, powers his way for an 8-yard gain against the Parkview Vikings. Clearing the path was Bill Nelson (53). For the overall season, Byars set a school record by chalking up 1306 yards in 178 carries for a 7.3 average yards rushing. Neither heat, nor cold, nor dark of night kept athletes from the practice field. Above, sophomore Bill Helfrecht and junior Kirk Heyle ignore cold, gusty winds as they execute a play during a scrimmage session.

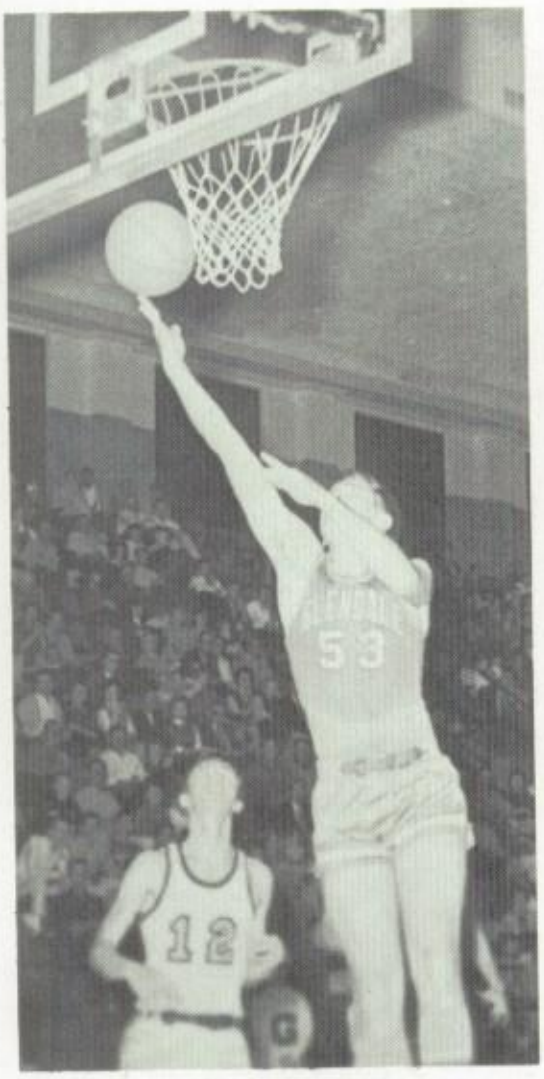
Cagers First In Regionals;

SWISH . . . Tim Burrows hits two points in GHS's victory over Central in the Tournament of Champions. The victory advanced the Falcons to the finals where they were defeated by the Parkview Vikings.



PERFECT FORM . . . Scott Bradley gets by the Republic defenders for a bucket in the Falcon's win over Republic for the Blue and Gold Tournament championship.

The Falcons this year were, at times, an inspired basketball team. Ending the regular season with a record of 16-6, what they lacked in height, they made up in speed and desire. After losing the season opener by a slim margin, they came back to win the next ten games in a row before being defeated by the powerful Parkview Vikings.

This year's team also gave GHS its initial first-place trophy in a tournament, winning the Gold Division of the annual Greenwood Blue and Gold Tournament.

In the Tournament of Champions, the Falcons defeated cross-town rival Central to reach the finals and ended up second to Parkview in a hard-fought contest. Three players, Tim Burrows, Scott Bradley, and Bryan Magers, gained honors by being placed on the All-Tournament squad.

No one player can be singled out as leading the Falcon five because it was purely a team effort which afforded their wins. With a record of 4-4 in conference play, the Birds wound up in a three-way tie for second with Central and Joplin.

TWO! . . . Bryan Magers, senior forward, below, launches a two-pointer against the Republic Tigers in the Blue and Gold Tournament.

COME DOWN . . . Steve Bean, sophomore guard, and Tommy Lee, junior forward, battle Hillcrest defenders for a rebound in a conference tilt here at GHS. The Falcons won the contest by a score of 59-37 to run their record to 13-6.

HELP I'M BEING SQUASHED . . . Marty Davis appears to be rescuing Steve Bean from being smashed to death by two Hillcrest players. Despite the tactics used by the Hornets, Bean got the ball.

APPLE PIE! . . . Roland Shultz finds that his shot is going down faster than it went up. Despite this momentary setback, the GHS B-team won by the score of 76-74.

. . . With Promising Records.

With all of the Varsity starters graduating this year, it is going to be up to the Junior Varsity to provide the punch for next year's Falcons. When one takes a look at the talent provided, the future looks promising. This year's J.V. team ended with a record of 14-5 and finished second in the Junior Varsity Tournament. It may well be that the only thing that will be lacking on next year's Varsity is a little experience, but once this is acquired, it appears certain that Glendale will make a good showing in conference play.

Looking farther into the future, two fine freshmen teams displayed enough talent to supply any varsity with excellent material. The "A" freshmen team finished with a record of 11-4 and took second place in the Freshmen Tournament. With prospects like this supplying Coach Jack Robert's Falcons, things look bright in Glendale's basketball future.

TWO FOR PYATT . . . Eddie Pyatt puts up a long jumper against the Hillcrest freshmen in the annual Freshmen Tournament. Closing in for the rebound, if there is one, are Mike Larmer and Bob Allred.

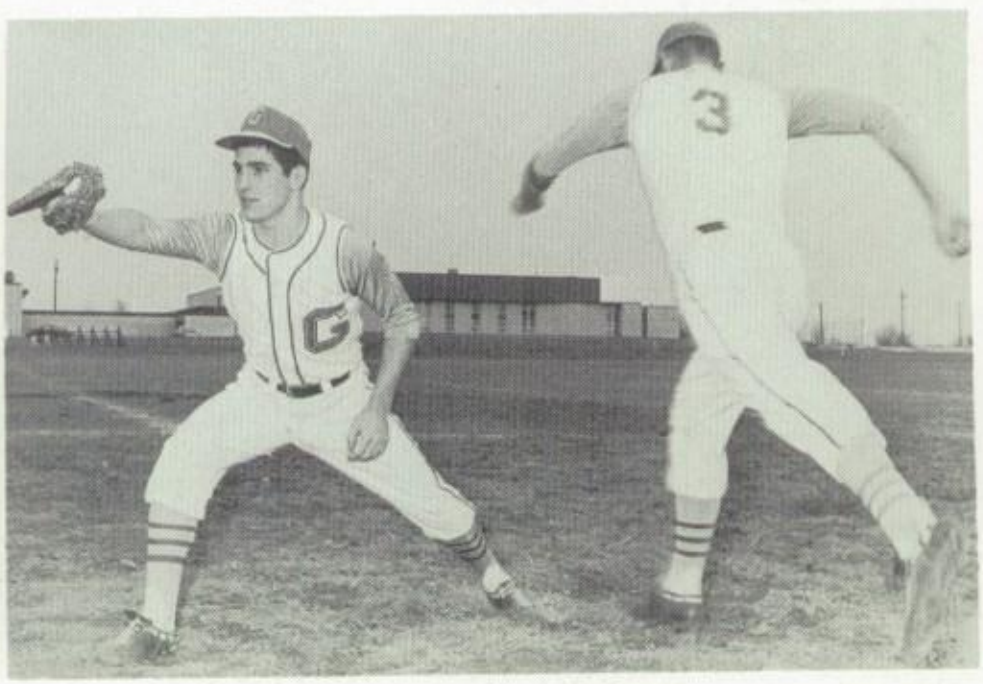
STRIKE! . . . Junior J. R. Williams has finished his follow-through and senior Greg Daugherty takes his stride to connect with the pitch. Williams is one of the returning Falcon pitchers while Daugherty is a second baseman.



YOU'RE OUT! . . . Ron Lemery is out by a step, as Mark Worley stretches to receive the throw. Both are two-year lettermen, Worley lettering at Central before coming to GHS and Lemery lettering at Parkview.

A variety of meets gave the 1965 Falcon track squad an excellent opportunity to break the initial school records which were recorded in the books last year.

In the course of the past season, the track team entered the following meets: the State Indoor at Columbia, the All-Relays and the All-City at John F. Kennedy Stadium in Springfield, the Southwest Missouri State College Relays in Springfield, the Pittsburg Relays at Pittsburg, Kansas, the Springfield Relays at Kennedy Stadium, the Clinton Relays at Clinton, the Ozark Conference and District meets at Kennedy Stadium, and the State Outdoor meet at Columbia.

Returning record-holders from the 1964 squad who went all out to better their records were Jim Hoover, Tim Shanholtzer, Bill Hermann, Kirk Heyle, Richard Gillenwaters, and Gene Napier.

Concentration and coordination are the keys to success as Bill Hermann, left, eyes the crossbar before attempting his leap into space. Coming into the first turn, below, are Glendale's distance men: Mike Barnett, Alan McCoy, Wayne Walker, Danny Chrisman, Tim Shanholtzer, Marc Wittmer, and John Howard. Shanholtzer was the squad's top distance runner last season, setting a school record in the mile of 4:41.4 seconds and running on five relay teams which set GHS standards.

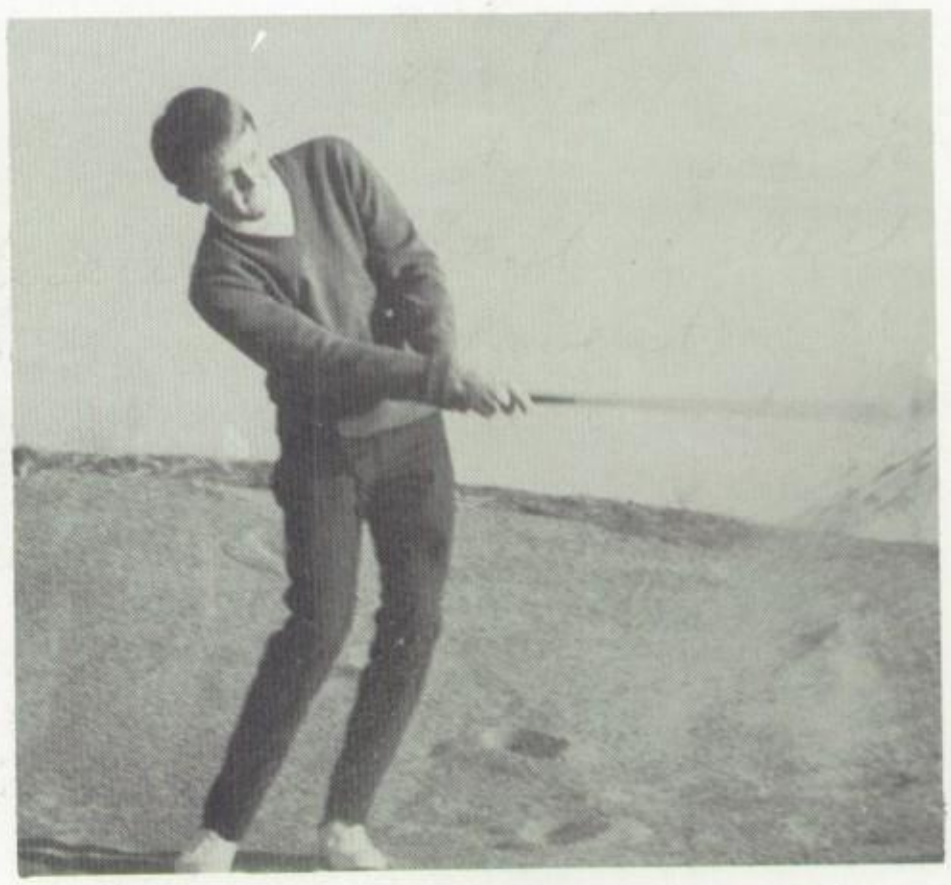
Competition Keen In Golf, Tennis . . .

GOLF LETTERMEN . . . Returning lettermen from the 1964 GHS golf team are: Ronnie James, Jill Southworth, Vic Cox, Bill Howard, Diana Daniels, Skip Talley, Gail Jones. Linda Talbot was absent for the picture.

STROKE IT FOR A BIRDIE . . . Ronnie James lines up this putt on the 18th green to finish his round of golf.

STRAIGHT AS AN ARROW . . . Vic Cox watches the flight of his ball down the fairway during a practice round.

FORE . . . Diana Daniels keeps her head down as she blasts out of a sand-trap.



IN THE CUP . . . Skip Talley watches the flight of his ball as it leaves the trap and flies toward the hole.

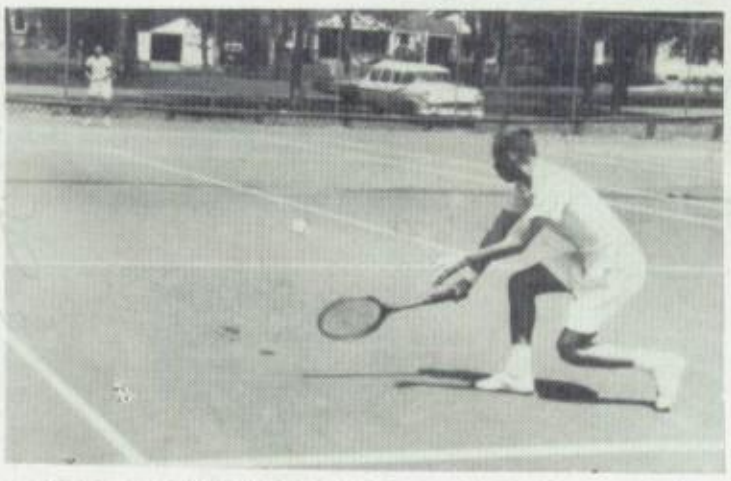
PRACTICE . . . Tommy Burdett, senior letterman, returns the ball with a backhand pickup on the Gendale court.

IT TAKES SKILL . . . Becky Morgan, junior letterman, drives the ball back across the net with a forehand.



CHAMPIONSHIP FORM . . . Gerry Perry, senior letterman, uses his backhand volley to return the ball to Phil Mears, Central sophomore. during the district tournament.

REWARDS ARE WORTH THE EFFORT . . . Gerry Perry, senior, polishes up on his national Indoor Doubles Championship trophy, but from the looks of his trophy display case he doesn't need much polishing up on his tennis experience. During his seven years of tennis he has won 125 trophies.

Bob -

You probably won't know I signed your yearbook but here I am anyway. Hi - This year has been so cool but I can't believe its almost over!

I haven't seen too much of you this year but I'm sure I will this Summer, swimming, etc

ORGANIZATIONS

Best Wishes
Bob Calder

Bob,
I sure hope we get in some classes together next year. You're one of the sharpest guys I know. You deserve the best of luck and I sure hope you have it. I'll probably see you around this summer. Have a great summer.

Lots of Lucks to a great guy.

Jake

m. Guthrie,
I feel I know you more than I really do. You see,
I have a walking encyclopedia of Bob Guthrie for a sister.
maybe we will get to know each other better though. I hope so!

(If ya can't remember my last name! ask M. Tynes. (?) Maybe he will remember in a few days...?

Bob,

I feel sad about writing over all these months, but I've been when you're you know I'm to
Our class
You
because you're always so friendly & you our depressed & such someone to propose to you, let me know, and I'll call Leslie Sedam again.

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y, affiliated with the YMCA, are concerned mainly with the functions of government. They give interested students a chance to get the inside story and to participate in government dealings. These clubs centered their activities on two main events that occurred during 1965.

Model City Government Day, February 26, was sponsored by Hi-Y, with Tri-Hi-Y acting as co-sponsor. Various members of these clubs served as city officials; students not associated with these two organizations filled the rest of the positions. Student officials, aided by their city counterparts, participated in a mock city council session, municipal court, and various city board meetings.

Members of Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y were chosen to serve in various capacities during the Model State Government Program held in Jefferson City April 1, 2, 3. Throughout the year, members, working together with licensed attorneys, prepared cases which were tried in a mock trial in Springfield, some later tried in Jefferson City, and prepared legislative bills which were presented in the Model Legislature.

. . . Cabinet Establishes Hall Of Fame.

The members of the Representative Assembly are not only educated in ideals of a democratic society, but they have the responsibility to help improve the school environment. They do this by presenting ideas and suggestions from the students they represent to the administration.

Good teacher-student relationship is important to any school. Realizing this, the Glendale Student Council sponsored a "Teacher Appreciation Day" in November.

Student directories headed a long list of physical improvements made by this organization. Others included new ballot boxes, malt spoons as well as 10 cent malts, and a living Christmas tree planted on the Glendale lawn.

At the fall convention in Carthage, the Glendale Student Council was elected next year's president of Southwest Student Council Federation. In February, Glendale hosted the Intra-City Student Council Convention.

This year the Cabinet has sponsored several activities. The Freshmen mixer helped in-coming students get acquainted. Cabinet was in charge of Falcon Festival arrangements, the all-school sock hop, the securing of a falcon suit to be worn by a GHS student at future football and basketball games, and the most outstanding achievement, the establishment of Glendale's Hall of Fame.

'65 Glendale Hall Of Fame

Glendale's Hall of Fame is an event honoring its two most outstanding students. Basis of the selection is leadership, scholarship, service to the school, and character. This year the selection of a king and queen was made by the entire student body. The winners were presented, along with the finalists, in a special assembly and that evening a dance was held in their honor.

. . . In Glendale's Success.

This year's Key Club, Library Club, and Safety Council were instrumental in aiding Glendale's student body and promoting spirit and cooperative relations.

The Key Club was active all year in promoting school spirit and helping in programs and civic duties. The members selling their quota in ribbons were eligible to attend the district and state convention held in the spring. The Key Club was also responsible for delivering Christmas baskets and helped in the promotion of College Day and the Vocational Clinic. Key Club is sponsored by Mr. Harold Deiker.

The members of the Library Club, sponsored by Mrs. Opal Roberts, are responsible for the library showcases and interesting GHS students in current literature. This group of students met once a month and shared book reviews and current literary material. They also were active in various charity works throughout the year. At Thanksgiving the members prepared a basket for their "adopted" family and at Christmas they gave a party at the Childrens' Home.

Sending delegates to the state convention at Jefferson City was the highlight of Glendale's Safety Council, sponsored by Mr. Kenneth Clark. All members participated in programs designed to make the student body aware of all safety programs. Various members helped in directing fire and tornado drills and made reports on these.

FHA, FTA Focus On Future.

Looking toward the future, the members of the Future Homemakers of America and of the Future Teachers of America attempt to gain valuable knowledge for home and career through active participation in these clubs.

The Future Teachers of America strive to better understand the teaching profession through interesting and informative talks from teachers and student teachers.

Highlights of 1964-65 included the FTA district convention held at Southwest Missouri State College, serving at the pre-school banquet, holding a Christmas party for under-privileged children, visiting the Good Samaritan Boys' Ranch, and attending the annual FTA banquet. Several club members gained practical experience through cadet teaching, teaching children individually, and by keeping school records.

The FHA members initiated their busy schedule with a regional meeting in Ozark during the first month of school. In November, they presented a Thanksgiving basket to a deserving family; then they highlighted February with a Mother-Daughter banquet and a Sadie Hawkin's Day party. A Father-Daughter banquet was held in March, and members climaxed the year with a city-wide all-school banquet in April.

Through programs and activities members of the Glendale Nurses Club are able to learn about the responsibilities of nursing and the demand for good nurses.

During the year, members visited local hospitals, made favors and visited the Cerebral Palsy Home, viewed movies pertaining to nursing and diseases, and listened to student nurses and Armed Force Nurses discuss their careers.

Spearheading the year for the Science Club was a trip to the University of Missouri at Rolla. The club toured the Bureau of Mines, the School of Metallurgy, the Rock and Metallurgy Museum, and the Missouri Geological Survey, where topographical maps of Missouri are made. They also viewed the nuclear reactor. Through this trip and other projects the members have been able to further their knowledge of science.

The Future Business Leaders of America is devoted to the educational and occupational improvement of all the future business leaders. The club gives members the opportunity to enter into competition through district and national conventions. Meetings are devoted to informing members on proper ways to apply for jobs, dress, and attitudes.

Cooperative Occupational Education and Future Farmers of America, as well as volunteer student workers, heighten a sense of responsibility and pride of accomplishment in the modern Glendale student.

The functions of COE Club are regulated through the executive committee, consisting of the club's officers. The COE Club strives to develop a wholesome attitude toward work and to gain valuable experience.

During the year the COE Club held an Employee-Employer banquet, sent delegates to the COE Convention in Jefferson City, represented GHS at the Spring Leadership Conference in Columbia, and attended a city-wide COE dance and the COE breakfast.

The Future Farmers of America Club is devoted to promoting interest in farming by learning the many facets of agricultural science.

Debate Competes For Honor, Cambridge . . .

The 1964-65 Glendale Speech and Debate Squad once again displayed its capabilities in tournaments competing with schools from Nebraska, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, and Oklahoma.

Glendale hosted the second annual Glendale Speech and Debate tournament. The meet was enlarged to over twice the size of the previous debate tournament with the addition of a novice division.

By mid-season, the debate squad had matched the performance of last year and completed the season with more than double the trophies of the year before.

The Cambridge Society is composed of English IVL students who are interested in enriching their appreciation and knowledge of English literature.

Programs for the meetings were presented by guest speakers and members who volunteered to entertain the group.

The Cambridge Society again produced its annual publication of the Vignettes, a series of poems, essays, short stories, and book reviews of Glendale students.

Members of Quill and Scroll are students who have maintained a high scholastic average and have shown desire and ability in the field of journalism. Because of the small number of students eligible to participate, the group was able to tour the various news media. Climaxing the year, members held their annual Quill and Scroll banquet in April and announced the new editors and staff members.

Latin, French Seek Culture.

Le Cercle Francais and Latin Argonauts both strive to acquaint students with the cultures and history of their respective languages.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Celia Williams and Mrs. Ruth Lambeth, Latin Club sponsors, prominent speakers including Mr. Peter Arnott, classicist; Mr. Gary Matthews, U. S. correspondent in Bonn, Germany; and Dr. Robert Cooley, CBI professor of archeology provided interesting programs for the Argonauts. The Christmas season was celebrated with the Roman Saturnalia, and the spring season was climaxed with the Roman banquet.

Christmas carols reverberated through Glendale's halls as French students and club members serenaded Glendale in French. They were also responsible for stringing popcorn chains which adorned the patio Christmas tree.

Through speakers, Mrs. Lester L. Cox and Mrs. Celia Williams, who have toured France, club members became more familiar with French culture.

El Club Espanol furthers the learning of Spanish customs and traditions. The club revives an air of Spanish gaiety in their programs. The Christmas party, pictured at left, featured the breaking of pinatas while the Spring banquet brought the performance of the Mexican hat dance as well as Spanish costumes and food.

Glendale's Art Club attempts to develop art skills and perform school services. During the yule season, they decorated the school with stained glass windows and attractive bulletin boards. They were hosts at a surprise Christmas tea honoring Ana Maria Perez, GHS foreign exchange student from Angol, Chile. Each Glendale club was invited and presented Ana Maria a Christmas present. In March, the club members attended the annual Art Club Convention at Stockton.

. . . Serve School.

Ana Maria Perez, foreign exchange student from Angol, Chile, arrived in Springfield in August. In September, she promptly entered Glendale activities and joined the Student Council, FHA, Art Club, and was made an honorary member of Scotties. Also pictured with Ana Maria in the receiving line at a surprise Christmas tea held in her honor are, left to right, Mr. James Ford, principal; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones, Ana Maria's American parents; Becky Jones, Ana Maria's American sister; Ana Maria; and Stanley O'Dell, Art Club president.

. . . Chess Challenges the Mind.

The Classes of '65 created the Glendale Chess Club solely by student demand. Members sparked community chess interest through their tournament challenges to other Springfield public schools. Pictured at right priming for these tournaments are Joel Clinkenbeard playing Eddie Lipscomb, with Steve Clinkenbeard and Lyle Sparkman looking on.

Athletes who lettered in varsity sports while maintaining their scholastic standards were welcomed into the Glendale Lettermen's Club. Members strived to provide ample support for all sports events and to improve and promote school spirit through attending en masse as the "Clan of the Claw" at all Glendale sports events. The Lettermen sponsored a student-faculty basketball game (the faculty won) and purchased needed athletic equipment with the proceeds.

The Girls' Athletic Association furthered girls' physical fitness through after-school athletic programs and competition with other district schools. The organization sponsored intramural basketball, volleyball, softball, badminton, and bowling. In January members began a weekly swim program at the Y.W.C.A. The girls received awards in the honor assembly in May which were based upon points earned in these competitive events. GAA participants Becky Morgan and Teresa Reed are seen (top, right) lunging for an elusive goal in intramural basketball competition.

. . . Work Steadily To Achieve Excellence

To achieve excellence in instrumental music, members of the band and orchestra work steadily throughout the year.

The orchestra has given various concerts throughout the year, presented programs for elementary and junior-high schools, and played for assemblies and the Baccalaureate service. The string group provided entertainment for the American Education Week Open House.

Early morning practices were a major part of the Marching Band activities. They performed in the Christmas parade and during halftime at football games. A professional soloist was featured at the Concert Band's annual spring concert. The Stage Band participated in school activities. Cadet Band enables the student to become familiar with the theory of music and prepares him for Advanced Band. This year members of this organization took part in the Christmas parade and the band concert.

Toward the end of the year, members of these groups participated in the local and state music festivals.

. . . Satisfying Performances.

A choir must work constantly to improve tone quality, blend, diction, and to gain an effective interpretation of the mood of each number in order to achieve a satisfying performance.

With this goal in mind, the Junior-Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Meredith Rich, performed at various school assemblies, including the Easter, Thanksgiving, Choir and Orchestra, and the Memories Assembly. They sang at several P.T.A. meetings, at the Heer's singing tower, the Brentwood Christmas tree lighting, and at various junior high and exchange assemblies.

Members of Glendale's Madrigal presented acappella pieces for school assemblies, the Spring Music Festival, and several public concerts.

The sophomore choir prepares students for Junior-Senior Choir by studying fundamentals of breath control, improved diction, and correct production of tones. They studied harmony, musical terms, and the counting of notes and measures.

Glengarry Scots Contribute Spirit.

With the roll of drums and the sound of bugles, the Glengarry Scots, stepping high and showing enthusiasm, contribute their share of spirit to Glendale activities by performing at basketball and football games and during assemblies.

The Scotties, under the direction of their sponsor, Miss Margaret Fallin, are honor roll students who take an active part in school life at GHS.

The annual chile supper, held in the Glendale cafeteria, initiated the Scotties' round of activities for the school year. Clad in uniforms of the traditional red and blue plaid, they marched in the Christmas parade in Harrison, Arkansas, and in the Springfield Labor Day and Christmas parades. The senior Scots once again had "little" sisters, whom they honored at a Christmas Party. The Scots also held a Junior-Senior banquet.

One of the highlights of the year for the Scots occurred when they made Ana Maria Perez, AFS student, an honorary member of the drum corps and presented her with a kilt of the Glengarry plaid and a pin.

These activities, along with the many bus trips and hours spent practicing drills and the "Fling," are but a few of the memories held by a '65 Scottie. Whether they were performing for an audience or sitting on the sidelines watching, these girls showed the best from a proud school.

RAIN OR SHINE . . . "Practice must go on," seems to be the spirit of the Glendale Scots as they slosh through the puddles, building up endurance, preparing for the Christmas parade.

Seniors Pace Glendale . . .

CLASS PRESIDENT RON LEMERY faces senior community responsibility speaking for the Class of '65.

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES are mastered by cute Nan Baker, class secretary, as she records senior service to the community. The vice-presidency is far more than a hollow honor to Bill Howard, class V.P., as he points the way to community leadership.

The footprints of the Class of 1965 have worn their way into the halls of Glendale, never to be forgotten. These graduates have led Glendale to athletic as well as academic laurels. Seventeen seniors found there is as much character to be learned within the five-yard line as anywhere in life as they steered the Falcons to their first gridiron conference championship. Seven graduates piloted the school to scholastic honors as Glendale molded more merit semi-finalists than all other public schools combined, and attained national acclaim with two winners, of the Missouri ten, in the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards Competition.

Seniors paced the Glendale speech squad to impressive successes throughout the year. Senior sociology students spearheaded the Glendale United Fund Drive and senior Quill editors initiated a fight to preserve the senior play. Most important, the graduating class generated community pride not only through the above accomplishments, but also through their responsible participation in Glendale's first Model City Government Day program.

These seniors have set standards of spirited success which future classes must be hard put to match. Each of them represents an integral part of the personality of Glendale in this year when it has taken its well-earned place in both the civic and cultural communities.

FALCON editor Judy Leick and Quill co-editor Joyce Bowlin find sorting 1700 pictures not unlike playing cards -- with 30 decks. Larry Graham attacks the grass roots of the problem in flowering journalism department efforts to enhance community pride in Glendale by planting crocus bulbs to color the campus. Dejected contemplation is personified in Freddie Ray as he ponders the rigors of education. Logic slashed unerringly into opposition as the speech squad, here represented by David Hood and Rick Powell, had unprecedented success.

POWERFUL KEY CLUB . . . salesmen John Haseltine and Gene Napier persuasively pressure Doug Pender (center) and literally twist his arm in their pitch to peddle sports ribbons.

DON'T YA' KNOW? . . . It's raining? Tim Burrows and Sharon Wicks, despite the dampening weather, board the airy convertible already occupied by Kay Knudsen, David Hood, Gary Stokes, and Jill Southworth.

MOST WERE WARY . . . Conversational sparring was difficult with these seven Falcon merit semi-finalists: John Rollings, Don Smith, Bill Howard, David Hood, Jeanette Bass, Joel Clinkenbeard, and Russell Hahn.

SENIORS . . . The class of '65 advances and both they and the school are better for their having passed this way, for their footprints are worn in the halls of Glendale, never to be forgotten.

MAKE IT GOOD
Mike Simon, junior president, supervises Marcia Williams and Cindy Davis while they make posters for his election

GOT ANY SUGGESTIONS? . . . Bill Nelson, vice-president, seeks the opinion of Dale Tilton on a problem in the junior class.

NOW ABOUT THIS PROPOSED BILL . . . Marggi Walker, secretary, inquires about one particular bill and Linda Stoner, junior zone-councilman, tries to explain its parts.

Juniors . . .

With their first year as upper-classmen completed, Glendale juniors recall a year filled with school and community activities.

Juniors assumed their appointed positions in Hi-Y Model City Government Day, won honors for their school through the successful efforts of Glendale's speech squad, and aroused the pride of the school and community with their musical and Scottie performances. Each sportsman plunged into his rigid training with self-sacrifice, unbelievable endurance, and a determined will. These qualities are what made Glendale's juniors vital assets to its football, basketball, and spring sports program. The cheerleaders matched Glendale's enthusiasm with vitality, stamina, and wise leadership.

Mike Simon, president; Bill Nelson, vice-president; and Marggi Walker, secretary, provided capable leadership for the class. Juniors shared their skills and talents in the Junior-Senior Talent Assembly, Madrigal singers, orchestra, and with scholastic achievements. Three outstanding juniors were selected as American Field Service candidates.

If the juniors of '64-'65 continue in this manner, an obvious prophecy of an equally successful senior class may be predicted.

A junior's life is filled with seriousness and hard work as well as hours of fun. Upper left, Linda Ettinger, Debbie Colbaugh, and Sheri Dill spend hours working on yearbook layouts and pictures. Upper right, Penny Roberts, Gary Koch, Patt Beaver, and Stanley O'Dell discuss their American Field Service applications with Mr. James Ford, principal. Lower left, Theo Bothwell depicts the concentration needed to make the honor roll. Center, Nelson Self, Randy Magers, Larry Ray, and Bob Wise, typical of juniors, realize the importance of College Day. Lower right. Greg Harlan appears serious even during a telephone call.

WHEE! . . . Anita Boals takes the sign at face value when it says, "Stomp the Hornets." She jumps!

IT'S HARD TO TELL WHAT WAS SAID . . . But evidently Rita Buff and Alan McCoy think it's funny.

NO PROBLEMS HERE . . Sophomore President Fred Clark answers Mr. Leon Lee, class counselor. Joyce Stevens, vice-president, and Judy Dykman, secretary, seem to agree with Fred.

Sophomores . . .

As their second year drew to a close, the sophomore class had many memories to reflect upon, but they have much more to look forward to.

They could remember the fads of Beatle haircuts and black textured hose, the anxiety of waiting for a driver's test, and the thrill of memberships now open in Glendale organizations. The sophomores were not a class to let opportunity pass them by. Fifty students were active in Hi-Y Model City Government. Sophomore athletes composed a great percentage of the Junior Varsity teams. A few talented sophomores were selected as Junior Varsity cheerleaders, Madrigal singers, and members of the regular debate team.

Two big steps have already been taken toward the completion of high school. In the remaining two, the class will be challenged by Cabinet membership, Varsity cheerleading, Scottie membership, Varsity athletic teams, and the Junior-Senior Choir. They will be active in their preparation for the biggest step of all--the step from high school onto the pathway of life.

Freshmen Develop Patterns . . .

As beginning students to Glendale, freshmen quickly switched their feeling of hesitancy to one of enthusiasm, and patterns of high school life began to develop.

To help quench any hesitant feelings, the Freshmen Mixer was held September 15. This event enabled students to meet the Cabinet and other frosh in a fun-filled atmosphere.

Under the guidance and supervision of Mr. Paul Moore, freshman advisor, this new enthusiasm was projected into school activities. The Falcon Pep Club, which consisted of 76 girls, was predominantly freshmen. This group helped cheer the football teams to victory and provided encouragement to the athletes during the remaining events. The young Falcons were represented in the Falcon Festival, the Freshman-Sophomore Talent Assembly, and Hi-Y Model City Government. Scholastically, freshmen kept high standards with 24 percent of the class appearing on the honor roll. October 8-9, freshmen tests were taken to aid in future curriculum and vocational choices.

After proving their worthiness and ability to succeed this first year, freshmen now approach further preparation for life and impatiently await the new sophomore year.

Freshmen Pep Club members Susan Mathis, Tina Chasteen, and Linda Chatterton find that it takes a lot of preparation to enjoy athletic events.

Freshmen enthusiasm can't be topped as these boys clearly exhibit mass approval of a freshmen basket.

Bob
It's been a great year and lots of fun seeing pledge and you been one of my a have best for

Bob,
This year has gone so fast and I hardly know
you. We did have fun at Lipscombs party and we didn't really know each other. That was kinda funny wasn't it?
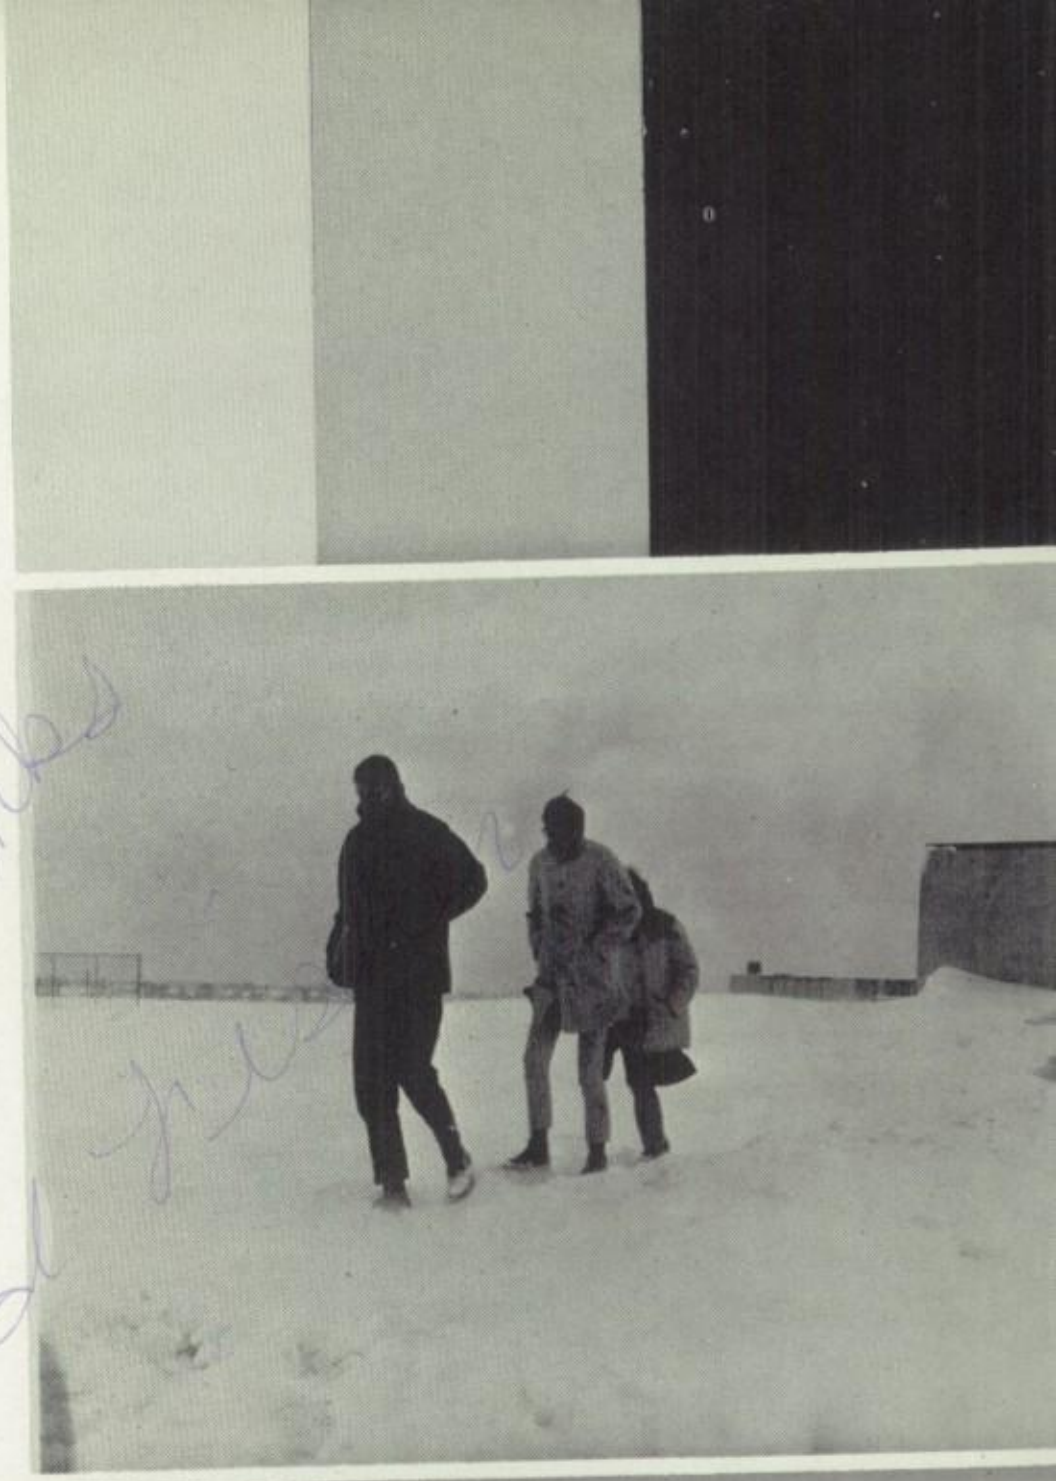
Have fun this summer
and I hope to see you



ACKNOWLEDGMENT

As the 1965 school year draws to a close, and students and faculty go their separate ways in preparing themselves for life in the community, we, the editors of the FALCON, would like to take this last opportunity to express our appreciation to those who made this publication possible.

Teachers, office workers, administrators, and students merit praise for their understanding when it was necessary to interrupt their daily routines for pictures or interviews. Special thanks go to Mrs. Virginia Woodring, journalism city-wide coordinator; to the staff photographers, Gary Hoffman and Ron Rauscher; and to Mrs. Charlotte Ellis, faculty advisor, who shared our troubles and was friend as well as teacher.

We hope that the 1965 FALCON will remain with you as a reminder of high school life and, as you tread the troublesome highways of the future, that you will remember your carefree high school days.

Bob:
Youre not only one of the coolest guys I know.
but you are my favorite actor.
Good luck in the years to come.
and I hope someday you will go with Lemond.

"Friends Always"

Bob:
We've had a good time this year in Sugars class. You ought to get pretty good grades sitting by Collins.
Good luck
Bob

Love Debbie

Thanks for everything you have done for me this year. You are one of the coolist guys I know.
ever known!

Thanks again
Mark Petty

Well Bob, I've been fun?
Hey, stay out of the way you are ~~going~~ going.

Bob.
Boy this year has gone
by fast, its been fun.
I hope I have a class or
Two with you next year.
Hope I see you at Twin Oaks
this summer. Take it easy

Chuck Talley.

Bob,

It's been great being in your classes (choke)
Sugar Jack will be glad to be rid of me and Jerri will be happy to lose you
Keep up the Geometry.

My dear
Bobby (Yours memies call you Robert)
It's been fun (???) in drivin
Ed and riding the bus home. I hope you stay nice, cool, and single. Well at least single (until you're 17). Your bestest something Clinky.

Love Junior
Note to Suzie summer
More fun this as more adventure
